

If a project is made for numerous users, an integrator can give a user a QR-code via which any user of the system can get a control project by scanning the QR-code from i3 lite app.