If the popup is assigned to the specified system variable, the user will see a "+" button in the module settings section. This button opens the specified popup